Important News Gathered from Abroad for the Benefit of Our Readers.

One man can cultivate four acres of tobacco, producing 4,000 pounds. It takes good land and a good man to do it. At 5 cents net he will have $120 for a year's work. Can he afford it?—Dover News.

Mr. Simon Well, of Paris, who buys many cattle in this section, is handling bovines on a wholesale plan this year. At different distilleries he is now stopping $8,000 head said to be worth over $250,000.—Danville Advocate.

In Powell county when there was a prohibition election the "drys" had an open Bible for their emblem and the "wets" a whiskey bottle and a snake. The Court of Appeals held the election illegal on account of the emblems.

For the first time in the history of the Kentucky Court of Appeals an attorney's fee was allowed to a woman who is not a practicing attorney. The woman who holds the distinction is Miss Cora Maude Nance, of Covington who won her own case.

The women of the northern half of Bath county pooled their turkeys and refused an offer of 15 cents per pound for them, holding out for 16 cents. They still have their turkeys for which they are offered 13 cents.—Cynthiana Democrat.

A fine cork tree was found by Clay Cummins and his cousin, Kirby Cummins, last week. They caught seven coons in the top of the tree and five possums in the trunk of the tree and caught three squirrels in the limbs, and it happened to be a bee tree, too.—Falmouth Pendletonian.

A drove of sixty-five turkeys arrived at the turkey pens on the Lebanon road Tuesday that for epicurean purposes excelled any turkeys that have been in Boyle county this year. They brought $2.35 each and were cheap at that. Philip Huff, who lives on the Harlan place, near Atoka, raised the turkeys.—Danville Messenger.

Lagrange, Ky., Dec. 15.—D. C. McDowell, Mayor of Lagrange, was instantly killed by a falling chimney at 4:30 o'clock this morning while working in the ruins of last night's fire. He was assisting the Louisville firemen who came here in answer to a call for help. It had been decided to raze the chimney of Dr. Cassidy's residence, one of the burned buildings, it being regarded as a menace.

Barbourville, Ky., Dec. 16.—A crude hand scythe, imbedded in the limb of a dead walnut tree cut down here yesterday, is attracting much attention, being doubtless a relic of the first entrance of white men into Kentucky. The scythe was in one of the topmost limbs of the tree, which had been dead for many years, and had evidently been hung across the branch when the tree was a small sapling.

Carlisle, Ky., Dec. 15.—A number of persons were made very ill at Pleasant Valley, this county, according to a report received here as a result of unknown persons drinking the wine for sacramental use at the church there and filling the cups with water and indelible ink in its stead.

Before the situation was discovered a number had partaken in the communion and became very ill. There is no clue to the identity of the perpetrator of the outrage.

Mr. J. E. Bruce, of the Danville pike, has a porker which is a little different from anything he or anyone else ever saw in the porcine line. This pig has been dubbed an elephant hog by all who have seen it, for its rear legs remind one very much of the hind limbs of an elephant. Instead of having the bend of the rear knees forward like hogs usually have the hind legs of this peculiar porker bend backward at the knees, like those of an elephant, and give a very peculiar appearance, especially when it walks.—Stanford Interior Journal.

Lexington, Ky., Dec. 15.—At the meeting of the Lexington School Board tonight the board, with only one dissenting vote, adopted a rule proposed by Judge S. M. Wilson, which obliterates the whipping of girls in the public schools and pupils of either sex in the high school. The rule prescribes that no pupil in the high school nor girl in any of the public schools of the city shall receive corporal punishment and that a boy must be whipped in the presence of the class before which the offense was committed; if not in the presence of the class, it must be done in the principal's office in the presence of two teachers, or one teacher and a parent of the child.

A parent may upon request, approved by the superintendent of schools, inflict the punishment, in the presence of the principal and a teacher. If a pupil's parents forbid corporal punishment being inflicted upon the child, the latter may be suspended or expelled.

Wants to Help Some One.

For thirty ears J. F. Boyer, of Fertile, Mo., needed help and could not find it. That's why he wants to help some one now. Suffering so long himself he feels for all distress from Backache, Nervousness, Loss of Appetite, Lassitude and Kidney disorders. He shows that Electric Bitters work wonders for such troubles. "Five bottles," he writes, "wholly cured me and now I am well and hearty." It's also positively guaranteed for Liver Trouble, Dyspepsia, Blood Disorders, Female Complaints and Malaria. Try them. 50c at A. M. Hughes.

IN MEMORY.

Rev. Clifton Dean departed this life the second day of December, 1910, aged 76 years. His first companion and three children preceded him in the lane of life and gone on to the spirit world. He leaves a widow and five grand-children and a host of friends and relatives to mourn his death. He was a faithful minister of the M. E. Church, South, and a Master Mason, and was buried by that order. Rev. Dean had been failing in health for a long time. Never murmur nor complaint, but commit himself to Him who doeth all things well. While his place is vacant in our home we miss him very much. He was loved and respected by all who knew him.
